

Shobhana Narasimhan is a physicist and Professor of Theoretical Sciences at the Jawaharlal Nehru Centre for Advanced Scientific Research in Bengaluru. She obtained a PhD in theoretical physics at Harvard University. In her research, she uses quantum mechanical and computational techniques to design novel nanomaterials.